Time to Call A Halt

The great Hudson's Bay Company, the pioneer trading organization in this wonderful western land, is this year celebrating its 250th anniversary, and splendid pageants commemorating the event are being held in those cities which have developed out of the Company's old trading posts and forts. Participating in these pageants is Sir Robert Kinderley, the present governor of the Hudson's Bay Company, who is also director of the bank of England. Sir Robert is a man, therefore, who is fully conversant with present commercial and financial conditions throughout the world, and anything he may have to say on such subjects are worthy of the thoughtful attention and serious consideration of the people of Western Canada. In a recent address at Calgary he said: "Unless we stop selling along the smooth waters of this present false prosperity, brought about through inflation, which gives the world an additional purchasing power which is unreal, I say, if we don't stop now, we will be faced with the most appalling financial crisis in the next five or six years that the world has ever seen. As a trader I speak to you, because I know, and I tell you that only one way remains for us to reach the goal we seek—prosperity and happiness—and that is for each and every one to devote their energies to a campaign of real productivity and for the elimination of consumption of all luxuries."

In uttering these words of warning, Sir Robert Kinderley is only repeating what the most astute and best informed men in the world over have been saying and urging for some time past. Up to the present time, however, their words seem to have fallen on deaf ears. The situation in Canada is very similar to that in the United States, although, possibly not quite so aggravated because in this country we suffered losses during the war out of all proportion to those sustained by the United States, while we did not profit to the same extent as our southern neighbors did.

Nevertheless, conditions on the North American continent are very similar, and here in Canada we may well heed the summing up of the difficulty in the United States as stated by one observant American writer when he says: "There is too much spending and too little earning; too much extravagance and too little economy; too much restlessness and vague desire and too little real enjoyment."

Canada, like the United States, was settled by a sturdy, hard-working people. The fathers and grandfathers, the mothers and grandmothers, of the present generation of Canadians have been down the forests of Ontario and Quebec and built their primitive homes. They worked hard, practical economy, yet found real, deep and abiding joy in lives of achievement. The same process was followed by the pioneer settlers on these vast prairies. The rich men of Western Canada today come here as poor boys, and most of our merchant princes and well-to-do farmers can recall the days of almost abject poverty and unrelenting toil.

It was those men and their equally courageous womenfolk who made Canada what it is. They knew nothing of the soft life. They knew work, denial, hardship, and with it all deep enjoyment and good fun when there was time for it. But the fun was not the end which they sought. They knew nothing about taking something which someone else had created and sitting back to watch the money roll in and then spend it. Our foreign-born citizens came to Canada, not expecting a soft life, but a chance to work and get ahead in life.

It would almost seem as if the present generation of Canadians, and the newer settlers coming to our land, have forgotten these things. There would seem to be a real need for a realization of the truth that it is only by the continued practice of those qualities and the maintenance of those standards which made Canada what it is that this Dominion can be maintained and made still greater. If, says one writer, we could have some of the old-fashioned hard work, and the old-fashioned contentment and joy of living, instead of the unrest and discontent and constant seeking after leisure which does not seem to satisfy. The present generation has more than any other ever had, and it is bored to death. It seems to think that because everything isn't just softer, easier and still more perfect, that it is all wrong.

It is time for a revival of common sense, simple tastes and work and saving. If that revival does not come voluntarily, if such words of warning as uttered by Sir Robert Kinderley and a host of others are not heeded then hard times are ahead and many will in adversity and suffering regret that in these times they did not work save and prepare for the future.

Long Distance Wireless at Sea.
Such striking results have been obtained by the new long-distance Marconi wireless sets which have been installed on board the Cunarders Imperator, Mauretania, and Carmania, that a rapid extension of these instruments to other great liners may be expected. The famous white star vessels Olympia, Adriatic, Baltic, Celtic, Cedric, and Megantic are being similarly equipped and will carry this new apparatus on their next sailings from England. All these ships will now have direct intercommunication with land over a distance of 1,400 miles.

A MOTHER'S ADVICE

Once a mother has used Baby's Own Tablets for her little one she is always happy to recommend them to others. Her advice, given after a careful trial, can be readily followed with assured good results. The Tablets are a mild but thorough laxative which never fails to regulate the bowels and sweeten the stomach. They always do good—they cannot possibly do harm even to the youngest babe. Concerning them Mrs. P. Laforest writes: "My baby was constipated and cried continually. On the advice of a friend, I gave him Baby's Own Tablets and now at the age of five months he is perfectly well and weighs twenty pounds. I am delighted to be able to advise other mothers to use them." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

The Pleasure of Reading

Reading is a habit as easily cultivated as dancing and holds in a thrall as strong when once acquired. Books are now all that governesses used to be (though it's too bad governesses have gone out). They are companions, mentors and entertainers. They can show you more of life than any pair of eyes can see on the great highway itself, and the view leaves no images to distort the mature vision. Let's punch up the cushions in the window seat and call back the glory of the old sunlit scenes. It will be strange if the young folk don't forget all about the deer—Kansas City Star.

Then and Now

A Few Incidents That Have Added To the Happiness of the Human Race

Do you really want the "good old days" when there were no Pullmans, fast trains, anesthetics, telephones, bicycles, automobiles, moving pictures, self-igniting, high speed presses, phonographs, cold storage, plate glass, gas cooking ranges, incandescent lights, aeroplanes, elevators, fast ocean liners, X-ray photo graphs, typewriters, adding machines, cash registers, asphalt, microscopes, telescopes, linotypes, high speed presses, and automatic machines in almost every branch of endeavor? Think it over. Have these things not added something to the measure of human happiness.—From the Ottawa Journal.

One Great Essential To a Woman's Health Is Her Nerves

Nature intended women to be strong, healthy and happy as the day is long, instead of being sick and wretched. But how can any woman be healthy and happy when the whole nervous system is straining? The trouble is they pay more attention to their social and household duties than they do to their health. If it any wonder then that they become irritable and nervous, have hot flushes, faint and dizzy spells, smothering and sinking spells, become weak and nervous, and everything in life becomes dark and gloomy.

Minard's Heart and Nerve Pills are the very remedy that nervous, tired-out, weary women need to restore them to the blessings of good health. Mrs. P. H. Ryan, Sand Point, N.S., writes: "I have been a great sufferer from nerve troubles. I was so weak and nervous I could not sleep at night and my appetite was very poor. I could not walk across the floor without trembling. I had hot flushes and fainting spells. When I was on my second box of Minard's Heart and Nerve Pills I began to feel better and kept on until I had used six boxes, as I felt like a different person. I am never without them in the house and recommend them to all who suffer from nerve troubles." Price 50c a box at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Minard Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Delivery by Parachute

Grant Licensee Authorizing the Dropping of Packages by Parachute From Aircraft

The British Air Ministry has announced that, in an amendment of the air navigation regulations, licensees may now be obtained to drop packages by parachute. The amendment reads: "An amendment to the air navigation regulations dated 30th March provides that the Secretary of State may, on application being made to him, grant licenses to firms engaged in the aircraft industry, authorizing the dropping of packages by parachutes from aircraft on to dropping grounds approved by him for the purpose, subject to such conditions and for such time as may be specified in the license, and subject also to any directions issued by the Secretary of State for the purpose of supplementing or giving full effect to this provision."

Wheat Price to Remain Higher

In the course of an interview at Winnipeg, Man., Hon. Edward Brown, provincial treasurer of Manitoba, expressed the belief that wheat would sell this fall at $3 a bushel and that the federal government would set the price again as was done last year.

British Naval Supremacy

Britain Has Reason For Maintaining The Most Powerful

The addition of the five floating German dreadnoughts to the British fleet may save Britain from losing her naval supremacy to the United States during the next two or three years. At present Britain has 33 dreadnoughts. The United States has 27 built or building and is planning for 10 more. Britain has 13 battle-cruisers. The United States is building six and is planning for six more.

The justification for the intensive naval program of the United States is hard to find particularly when President Wilson urges all the nations of the world to join the League of Nations and agree to an all-round reduction of armaments. A clash between the two great divisions of the Anglo-Saxon race is unthinkable. Yet even the best friends of the United States who are citizens of the British empire feel that Britain occupies such a unique position in the world that she has reason for taking such steps as may be necessary to maintain the most powerful navy in the world.

The cost of naval construction keeps on multiplying. The British battleship Hood, with the extraordinary tonnage of 42,000, a length of 860 feet, 31 knots speed, and eight 15-inch guns, is costing thirty million dollars, and it is said that some of the American dreadnoughts now building are expected to cost more than forty million dollars. Recently Japan launched a dreadnought that will be much more costly than any vessel she previously has built.

Cruelty in the Country

Old Methods Are Cause of Great Cruelty to Beasts

Custom is the perpetrator of many a cruelty. The farmer, unless he keeps up with the best farm literature, follows his father's methods, needlessly painful though they may be to the farm animals. Think of the millions of swine butchered in the old fashioned way—seized, "struck" and left to stagger around and bleed to death. Many are doing this just as they did it a hundred years ago, in spite of the fact that intelligent farmers first drop the animal by a small bullet rightly placed, destroying all consciousness, and then use the knife. The bleeding is in no way retarded by this plan.

Consider also the cruelty of debarking cattle, prohibited by law in certain countries, when a little stick of caustic potash used on the week-old calf's head at the spots where the horns would grow, and causing almost no pain to the calf, would prevent the horn from growing at all. Moisten the place with your finger, dipped in water, and then rub with the potash till the skin simply begins to look red.

Docking the tails of lambs is another form of cruelty that the country is guilty of, probably because tradition says the wool will become less soiled. While farmers who have dared experiment by leaving their lamb's tails on, or have read of some one else who has, know better. Millions of sheep with tails cut off that might have been left on if their owners were seeking to accomplish the end for which they cut them off!

Motors on the Farms

The latest official statistics just published show that farmers in Ontario last year owned more passenger motor-cars than were owned in all the cities of the province; they also owned more than double the number of passenger cars owned in Toronto, and far outdistanced all other occupations in the number of cars owned by individual trades. The classification, according to occupation, shows 46,997 passenger cars and 825 trucks owned by farmers. Skilled trades come next with 15,042 passenger cars business men 13,838; doctors, 3,157; other professions, 5,119; manufacturers, 4,362.

Empire Day

Let the separatists compare the Ulster problem with that of Quebec. Britain cannot even discuss the problem of separation from Ireland because a section of Ireland refuses to consent to the proposed change. If the proposal to separate Canada from the Empire is ever definitely mooted, there are many among us who are convinced that the French of Quebec province would offer the most strenuous opposition. It is not that they are specially loyal to the Empire; on that head they are indifferent; but in the present state of affairs they hold an advantageous position, and they will in all probability show themselves strenuously unwilling to surrender it. Even if we leave Quebec out of the question, it is certain that of the English-speaking population those who desire separation are only a small minority, chiefly to be found in the western provinces. So we need not be seriously troubled, being sure that until the whole of Canada desires separation, there is not the faintest likelihood of such a catastrophe taking place.

(3) One further point. Granting that the separation took place, what benefit would be gained? What do we mean by nationality? In what way is the attainment of Canadian aspirations hindered by the British connection? What should be the aspirations of a nation? Should it not aspire to develop a national character that will rank among the highest for honor, courage, intelligence, wisdom in meeting and solving problems that are urgent, for kindness to the weak and oppressed, and for liberty granted to every citizen to hold and exercise his rights as a man and a citizen in the freest fashion? Is there any one of these worthy aims in the attainment of which Canada is hampered by the British connection? Not one. Could Canada, if she stood alone, take a more usefully commanding position in the world than she holds today? I do not believe it. She could hold such a position as Denmark holds, or Holland or Switzerland. Our men are magnificent fighters, but their numbers are limited and we cannot be sure that we live in a world from which warfare has been utterly abolished. Is Canada prepared to build up a large army, and a great navy? She would assuredly be compelled to do both if she stood alone. It may be answered that Britain would never suffer Canada to be crushed. That is true, and the connection between Britain and Canada is only the outward symbol of that truth. In my judgment the British Empire is the power that is doing more for the world today than any other. She is not the power to which the smaller and weaker nations are looking wistfully for justice and help; and we know that they will not look in vain. Her aims today are more idealistic and unselfish than those of any other nation, her hopes and aspirations for herself I am proud to be a Britisher and I feel rather than belong to that extended Empire than to any other people on the face of the earth. It is the firm conviction which I hold—a conviction shared by multitudes of Canadians—that the tie which binds

Love of The Wild
— BY —
ARCHIE P. MCKISHINIE
Printed by Special Arrangements with Theif Allen, Toronto, Ont.

CHAPTER ONE
The hazy October sunlight sifted through the trees and lay here and there golden bits of carpet on the mossy woodland. A glossy black squirrel paused on one of these splashes of sunlight, and, sitting erect, premeditated his long fur; then as the harsh scolding of a red squirrel fell on his ears, he sunk on all fours again and bounded into the lower branches of the wood. A pair of pursuing red squirrels sprang from an opposite grove and with shrill chidings crossed the open to the snake fence. By taking this fence they might intercept the quarry's flight, the object being to make short work of the black one. They met with an hereditary hatred harking back to the dim past.

In and out they flashed, their yellow-red bodies painting zigzag streaks of gold upon the forest background of green. Suddenly they halted and with tails slashing angrily pointed out a trade of abuse upon the human frustrator of their designs.

He stood leaning against the fence his young face moody, his eyes focused somberly on the new schoolhouse with its unpainted boards, hanging to the face of the hill. He turned now, his tall form erect, accusation in his glance. Nineteen years among the wild of the wild had schooled him in the knowledge of signs such as that which confronted him, and which were forerunners of the tragedies so numerous in the wooded fastness. "So you would, eh? he grated, you little murderer, you!"

At the sound of his voice the male squirrel, less courageous than his mate, sprang to earth and scurried up a scraggy birch. The female, not to be cheated out of her squirrel pleasure, attempted the old ruse of dropping to the bottom rail of the fence and darting past the boy in this way. But the boy had learned the ways of squirrels as he had learned the ways of all the things of the wild, and as the little animal sprang forward his tall body bent earthward. A muffled squeal came from the buckskin cap he held in his hand, and when he arose his brown fingers slipped the animal securely by the back of its neck.

"So it's you who've been driving the black squirrels out of the bush?" he said. "Well, you won't drive any more out, I guess. You've had your last run exact the one me and pop'll give you, and that won't be a very long one. Hit 'em, Joe!" he called, "come here, old feller: I've got something for you!"

From the far end of a long fallow came loping a gaunt Irish setter. He hurried his shaggy form upward, but the boy held the prize out of his reach.

"Come into the clearing and we'll have a chase, pup," he said. They passed over to an open spot in the wood and the boy turned the captive about so that it faced him.

"Now, Joe," he said, "I'll just—"
He broke off and stood staring at the animal which had ceased to struggle and now hung passive, its little heart throbbing under its white breast-fur. "Joe," whispered the boy, "she's got it!"

young 'uns somewhere."
The dog sprawled on the warm moss and rolled over and over. "I reckon some little coddlers" he missed their manny, pup."

Joe coaxed his ears and looked up at his master.

"They'll be lookin' to see her maybe by now, but," he said, "ain't ever goin' to see her no more."

The squirrel twisted and attempted to dig its long yellow teeth into the hand that held it prisoner.

"She's just like ever'adin' else that has babies," frowned the lad, "savage and foolish. Here you," he called to the dog, "where are you goin', Joe?" The setter was trotting slowly away.

"What's got into him, I wonder," muttered the young man. "Never knowned Joe to run away from sport before, unless it was that time the old she'con slashed his nose, after we'd cut down her tree and found her babies."

Once more he turned the animal about and looked into its big soft eyes.

"I'm goin' to give you another chance," he said. "Pup don't seem to hanker for your life, and I guess if a dog thinks that way about it I got to think the same way. It's a mighty queer dog for you that you've got young 'uns. And now, you shavin', murderin' little devil—get."

He tossed the squirrel on the moss. The frantic thing crouched for a second, then sprang away and sought the sheltering branches of a nearby tree.

From this secure refuge she cursed the boy viciously in squirrel language. The boy nodded, then scowled.

"You're quite welcome, I'm sure, he said, and crumpling his hands deep into the pockets of his backskin trousers he walked thoughtfully back to his old post.

Slowly he climbed the fence and perched himself on its topmost rail, his knees drawn up, his chin sunk in his hands. Once more he gazed somberly across the stumpy clearing to the new schoolhouse on the hill. He hated it; hated the brazen sound of its bell. Mentally he concluded it as he combated other elements of civilization. All the young soul of him rebelled against what he considered the defacing of Nature. Those wide swaths which man had moved through the forest to his men were a blemish. They were scars made by interlopers upon the face of a great sweet mother. Nature had endowed his boy's spirit with her own moods.

His soul held the shadows of her quiet places as it retained the records of his twisting longings of years and waterfalls. He knew no order save that of the great Brotherhood of the Untamed. His was a broad kingdom. It was being usurped and would soon be a toppling power.

Moody and unmoving he sat until the gold splashes ebb from the opes of his wood. Then he gazed at the yellow-fles of the slashing turned from yellow to bronze-brown and from bronze-brown to gray. A covey of brown quail scurried from a tangled patch of raw-wood to a dry water-run, to scuttles, a long animated line, to the thickets of smooth. Far down in the corner of the fallow now dotted scattered brood were voicing the shrill, mellow call of retreat, and all throughout the darkening wood there sounded the bedley of harmonious voices of wild things in twilight song. Only in the soul of the boy there was a discord that rose and fell and disturbed and old-time restfulness that had been his for nineteen years. Perhaps the indefinable something that whispered to him pitted him also, for resentment and combativeness came away from his heart with the hazy glow of day. Like his great wild that nestled in the peace of twilight, his soul threw off its struggles and seemed to rest. When darkness came he climbed down from the fence. Through the forest-reeks murmured the low song of early night-breezes, and to him they voiced a prophecy. Something brushed against him, and the boy bent down and drew the shaggy head of a dog over against his breast.

"Danna, 'em," he cried chokily, and shook a clenched fist towards the swaths of civilization. Then slowly he passed out into the darkness, the dog at his heels.

At the edge of the hill he halted and gazed down the long dark hollow of the creek-bed to where a white splash of water slept beneath the riotous moss. All along the wooded vista, whip-poor-will piped their wakeful joy-notes, and the musical whistle of migrating woodcock made a shrill treble note to the harsher yelp-song of incoming wild ducks.

Dew-mist, laden with the scent of food traces and muggy woods, except to him, and he breathed the sweetness in long, conscious breaths. But all the while he lay looked toward the bay, and the golden trail of moonlight across it, to the uneven serag-line of Point aux Pins Forest, and wondered vaguely at the savagery of civilization that sought, as it was seeking, to destroy God's life and beauty.

Great Britain Prosperous

Few Immigrants Are Coming From England

There will be little real immigration to Canada within the next year, according to Major Tudgie, of Montreal, secretary of the Salvation Army immigration department. Several hundred people from Great Britain are coming to Canada every week, he said, but the numbers are not nearly so large as before the war, and most of the passengers are soldiers' dependents or Canadians who went to England during the war. Most come out to friends, and not one in twenty is without definite plans.

"England is so prosperous and the wages so high that it would not pay the average working man to change his home," Major Tudgie said. "Coal miners are earning as much as $25 per week, and they would not get that much in Canada."

Livestock Shows at Chicago and Toronto

Saskatchewan Government to Pay the Transportation Charges

On Livestock
On behalf of the Saskatchewan government, the Hon. Chas. A. Dunning has agreed to pay the transportation charges on Saskatchewan livestock entered for the International Livestock Show at Chicago, and the Toronto Royal Exhibition.

It has been decided that a joint exhibit of not over two car loads of Saskatchewan livestock be sent this fall to the two big shows. The minister has agreed to pay transportation charges providing certain conditions were fulfilled, one of which was that no stock should be sent to this exhibit that had not competed in at least one of the four large Saskatchewan shows, namely, Regina, or Saskatoon summer exhibitions or winter fairs.

The result of the conference between the members of the livestock board and the minister was completely satisfactory to the board, and steps will be taken immediately to ensure earnest and hearty support of the board, in securing the best livestock exhibits from the province, well fitted.

Mr. Dunning has also received the following resolution which was unanimously passed at the annual meeting of the livestock board:

"It resolved, that this meeting of the Saskatchewan livestock board express its hearty appreciation and commendation of the successful manner in which the provincial minister of agriculture, through his department has handled the serious problems of feed shortage caused by the crop failure last year."

British Columbia Clays

Tests Made Which May Lead to Important Results

A number of clays which were collected from different parts of the province of British Columbia by the geological survey field staff have been tested in the laboratories of the ceramic division. Some of the clays taken from the vicinity of Ducks and other from the Chimney Bridge Creek on the west side of the Fraser River, withstood high temperatures without softening and would, therefore, be suitable for the manufacture of fire-brick. The silty clays on the Nicola Valley and on the Fraser and Thompson Rivers burn to a red color, whilst those on the Columbia Valley and the Windermere Lakes contain a good deal of lime and burn to buff. While these clays were to be a rude useless for fire-clays, they were found to be suitable for making building bricks. Other good clays were found among collections from the neighborhood of Smithers and Bulkley River between Hazelton and Telkwa.

These discoveries are important, particularly the fire-clays, which are needed in the construction of metallurgical furnaces.

Several hundred peaks in the Himalayas range attain a height of 20,000 feet or over.

Income Tax Is Levied on Luxuries By New Budget

Ottawa. — A crowded house and crowded galleries welcomed Sir Henry Drayton, minister of finance, as he rose to make his first budget speech. Sir Henry dealt first with the economic situation of the Dominion. He emphasized prosperity in trade, the growth of revenue—last year's revenue of $388,000,000 was the best ever collected. He spoke of Canada's strong position in regard to currency.

Prior to stating his taxation proposals, Sir Henry gave an extensive review of the financial and economic position of the Dominion.

Conditions obtaining not only in Canada but all over the world, he said, were very different from the conditions which prevailed while the war was in progress, then the compelling necessity of the moment required the raising of large sums of money. It was absolutely imperative that there should be no check on production, no hindering of the war effort. Today, conditions were changed. The war was won. Expense was great. Canada, with other countries which participated in the titanic struggle, was faced with a pyramid of debt.

"The duty today," Sir Henry declared, "not only to carry on the government of the country with any additions to the debt, but on any other hand to promote measures which will reduce the nation's indebtedness."

The task, while heavy, was not so severe as the obstacles which Canada had overcome in the five years of war and stress.

"Indeed," Sir Henry proceeded, "it was possible for the country again to become as united and earnest as it was during the war period, if it were possible for each and all of us to sink all differences, class and sectional interests and jealousies, into an effort towards re-establishing a Canada unified and co-ordinated as that which won the war, the task would indeed be easy and simple."

The following is a summary of the taxation proposals:

Luxury taxes—Ten percent of the total purchase price on boats and shoes costing over $9 a pair, men's and boys' suits costing over $45; men's and women's overcoats costing over $50 each; fur coats and robes over $100 each; women's dresses over $45; women's suits over $60, and on hats, hose, neckties, skirts, purses and gloves costing above certain specified figures, as well as on some other wearing apparel; all fans, opera cloaks, ivory-handled umbrellas, cut glass ware, velvet and silk fabrics, lace, ribbons, silk embroideries and sporting goods.

Also on trunks over $10 each, and valises, suit cases, etc., over $25 each. This tax to be paid by the purchaser to the vendor at time of sale.

Ten percent on pleasure boats, yachts, canoes and motor boats; cameras, candy and confectionery, chewing gum, fire arms, shells, or cartridges; pianos, organs, musical instruments, and plated ware adapted for household use. This tax payable at the time of sale by Canadian manufacturers or when imported.

Twenty percent of total purchase price on such articles as cigar and cigar holders and pipes costing over $2.50; humidor and other equipment for smokers; hunting, shooting and riding garments, fancy pocket-knives, gold, silver, ebony and ivory toilet wares; jewelry, articles of silver adapted for household or office use; fur wearing apparel (except as mentioned above), fiveries, oriental rugs, expensive carpets, curtains and chandeliers. This tax payable by the purchaser at the time of purchase.

Twenty percent on mechanical player pianos, graphophones, and mechanical musical instruments, and on records used therewith.

Fifty percent on articles of gold for household use. (Gather two taxes being payable at time of sale by manufacturer or when imported).

Playing cards, 25 cents a pack on cards selling at wholesale rates not over $25 per gross packs, and 30 cents a pack on cards above $25 per gross packs.

Beer, wines and spirits; increase in excise duties on beer of 30 cents a gallon; non-sparking wines, 30 cents a gallon, and on sparkling wines, $3 a gallon.

Motor cars: Excise tax on Canadian manufactured and imported cars increased from ten to fifteen percent.

Sales tax: One percent on the sales of all manufacturers, wholesale dealers, jobbers or importers (not retail). This tax not to apply to a large list of essential foodstuffs, cattle foods, anthracite or bituminous coal or to goods exported.

Stamp duties: Existing tax on cheques continued, but rate increased on bills of exchange and promissory notes. Two cents for bills of $100 or less, and two cents for each additional $100 or fractional part thereof.

Stamp duties on patent medicines, etc.: Henceforth to be affixed by manufacturer or importer, instead of retailer as now.

Film: Tax of 15 cents for each day used abolished because of inequality of incidence as between small and large theatres. All the above taxes are effective from the 19th instant.

Income tax: By last year's legislative enactments taxes payable this year on 1919 income were very substantially raised. A further general addition to these taxes of five percent is now added on incomes of $5,000 and up, to be effective this year.

British Naval Estimates

Great Britain Will Not Reduce Beyond Margin Fixed For Naval Safety

London.—Navy estimates for the new financial year under discussion in the house of commons endured a running criticism from a comparatively small number of members anxious to secure reduction of the various votes. Right Hon. Walter Long, first lord of the Admiralty, in reply, declared that no other department showed the same reduction as the admiralty, but the government was determined to do nothing to risk the navy being brought down below the margin that the admiralty was considering removing obstacles in the way of promotion from the lower deck to commissioned rank to which Geo. Barnes, former labor member in the cabinet, retorted:

"A lower deck boy has as much chance of getting commissioned rank as I have of entering the Kingdom of Heaven."

Almost simultaneously Lord Jellicoe, at the Guildhall was referring to his tour of the Dominion. He said:

"It is an empire of which not only the inhabitants of these islands are proud, but those of the overseas dominions also. Our sea communications depend on the British navy and the navies of the dominions, which may be brought into existence to help the British navy. It is our duty to see that we are supreme in every weapon going to safeguard our communications."

West Should be Represented

Want Western Interests on Directorate of the C. N. R.

Calgary.—Resolutions urging that there should be representation of the western interests on the board of directors of the Canadian National Railway and that freight rates westward should be based on the same mileage rates as those eastward, and advocating taking of reduced cost of operating government lines through easy grades to the coast, were passed by the conference of representatives of western boards of trade.

A resolution urging the establishment of western executive offices for the railway was withdrawn.

W. E. Milner, of Winnipeg, spoke for the desirability of representations on the board of directors, arguing that much of the construction would be done in the west in the next ten years and that large parts and large revenue from the Western National railways came from the west.

P. J. Shallerens, of Victoria, believed that the great problems of the near future would be the devising of a cheap means of placing the wheat grown on the prairies on the markets of the world.

R. Moore, of Swift Current, questioned the wisdom of the first resolution, saying it would tend to create a cleavage between east and west.

Poisoned By Gas While in a Well

FRANK CARLSON FOUND RELIEF IN DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

Saskatchewan Man Who Suffered All Summer Claims That His New Lease of Health is Due to Dodd's Kidney Pills. May, 24th. (Special) Most enthusiastic about the benefit has been derived from Dodd's Kidney Pills is Mr. Frank Carlson, a well-known and highly respected resident of this place.

"I was gassed in a well on my farm 25 feet deep," Mr. Carlson says, "I was nearly dead. I was treated for a whole summer for my trouble, but did not get better. Then I read in a little almanac about Dodd's Kidney Pills. I had no idea they might benefit me, but was willing to try anything. To my surprise the improvement in my general health was so great, and my kidneys were so much better, that I feel like giving my remedy to use Dodd's Kidney Pills. I would not be without them."

Dodd's Kidney Pills are a kidney remedy. They strengthen the kidneys and enable them to do their full work of draining the impurities out of the blood.

Ask your neighbors if Dodd's Kidney Pills are not the sovereign remedy for sick kidneys.

Strong Measures To Suppress Crime In Ireland

Crop Prospects Are Bright

Report is Fair More Cheerful Than Expected From Late Seeding

Winnipeg.—The Manitoba Free Press' first crop report for 1920 is a decidedly more cheerful document than might have been expected from the very late seeding. Perhaps its very best feature is in the fact that farmers are wise and are not attempting to go on seeding wheat after the middle of May. Speaking broadly, the supply of moisture is excellent, the soil in fine condition and growth very good, not a few districts are reporting wheat up to four inches and no setbacks since seeding started.

Of course, there is a decrease in acreage in wheat, but as that was to be expected, it is no surprise. As nearly as can be estimated from the returns (191 points have been heard from), the decrease is fifteen percent in Saskatchewan and ten percent in Manitoba and Alberta, or, in other words, in 1920 the acreage in wheat is something over 15,270,000 acres, as against 17,670,000 acres in 1919, and given a continuance of the present favorable conditions it will be quite possible for the west to reap more wheat from the reduced acreage than it did from the larger acreage of 1919.

The only disappointment in the report is the apparent small increase in coarse grains, the reports indicating that, while there may be some increases at many points there will be no increases at all. The increases will be mainly barley and flax. Farmers are preparing to do extensive summer plowing, which is a good thing and much needed after the war period.

Supplies of feed and labor are decidedly better than was anticipated, and horses are not in a poor condition for spring work, as might have been expected.

In the districts where there was hopper trouble last year, they were asked to report on that condition, and reports are uniformly to the effect that so far no trouble is indicated, and preparations are made for fighting it should it occur.

Germany's Predicament

May be Compelled to Dispose of the State Owned Industries to Secure Foreign Credits

Berlin.—If the state-owned public services continue to be run at a loss, the government will finally be compelled to transfer them to foreign corporations so that we may secure further foreign credits. Finance Minister Herr Wirth is reported to have said at an election campaign meeting at Dusseldorf.

The minister foreshadowed the formation of a great national trust corporation in which great industrial organizations would be incorporated with the one end in view—more foreign credits.

Minister of defence Gessler declared at a public meeting at Cologne, of the 14,000 officers left in the German army at the end of the war, 10,000 had been demobilized.

U. S. Naval Power

Washington.—A pointment of rearmament sinus, as a honorary member of the British admiralty, was declined by the navy department as "un-American," despite the fact that it was preferred by King George himself. Secretary Daniels testified before a senate commission investigating the naval row. Mr. Daniels charged that this incident probably furnished some of the animosity between himself and the admiral.

Require Additional Half Million

Toronto.—Officials of the University of Toronto says the university will require $500,000 in addition to $900,000 which the legislature already has voted to that institution, a total of $900,000 this year being needed.

London.—Important changes in the government's policy in Ireland were decided upon as a result of the conference between Viscount French, Major General MacCreedy, and the government officials in London. According to the London Times, the government was so impressed with the gravity of the situation that it resolved to use every kind of weapon in the armory of the state to rush the terror before it was too late.

"On the other hand," continues the Times, "the restrictions which irritate the whole community, will be removed and a more tolerant regime of the people as a whole will be reached. An attempt to suppress crime will be carried out by means of operations in flying columns, instead of the old system of posts. These will relentlessly pursue terrorists, and when a murderer is captured and sentenced he will be hanged. No form of military coercion will be imposed upon the people, a more liberal attitude towards education, when not accompanied by violence, will comprise abandonment of arrest without trial, and reliance will be no longer placed upon the war time regulations of the Defence of the Realm Act.

Many Try to Join The Farmers' Party

W. R. Wood Declares Party Will Stick Absolutely to Action Taken at Brandon

Winnipeg.—"We are sticking absolutely to the action taken at Brandon," was the pronouncement of W. R. Wood, M.L.A., secretary of the United Farmers of Manitoba, when making a statement regarding the relation of the organization of candidates for constituencies in the coming provincial election.

"The truth is," said Wood, "that various parts of this province are today being over-run by political adventurers who have made up their minds that in a political way the present is a good fishing time for them. Chosen by themselves, or a small clique of personal cronies, they are at the opposite pole from the farmers in their thought of how a representative should be selected. They are profoundly convinced that the farmers' movement is one of the best things about ground in Canada to tie up to, and feel confident that the electors of this country are going to fall for the discarded stunt once more."

French Troops Leave Frankfurt

No Incidents or Disturbances Were Noticed During Withdrawal of Troops

Coblentz.—Reports received from Mayence state that all French troops which have been in Frankfurt and other centres, in the Main districts, had returned to the Mayence bridgehead. Five hours were required for the French and Belgian units east of the Rhine to withdraw. No incidents or disturbances were noticed during the day. Mayors of the smaller towns evinced expressed approval of the attitude of the French upon withdrawing.

Big Increase in Trade

First Month of Fiscal Year Shows Increase of Nearly $3,000,000

Ottawa.—An increase of $3,662,172 in the grand total of Canadian trade for the month of April, the first month of fiscal year, as compared with April, 1919, is shown by the trade items issued from the customs department. The trade of Canada during the past month reached a total value of $154,161,134, as compared with $151,527,962 for the same month a year ago.

Turks Massing Against Greeks

40,000 Men To Resist Entry Into Thrace

Constantinople.—Greek and Turkish troops have clashed about 25 miles east of Smyrna, where the Turks are taking the offensive and are apparently massing reinforcements preparatory to further advances against the Greeks. Fighting has occurred between Magnisio and Menemen.

Jafar Tayat, Turkish commandant at Adrianople, has sent a message here from that city saying 40,000 of the Turks and Bulgarians are preparing to resist the Greeks. He declares they will meet the Greeks midway between Chatalja and Adrianople when the Greeks begin the occupation of Thrace.

Port Arthur Yards Closed

Port Arthur.—Port Arthur and the Port Arthur shipyards are now on strike and there is not a wheel turning in the yards. The office staff will be kept on for some time and guards and fire protection will be increased.

The strike is over a request for a 10 percent increase in wages. There have been no moves toward a compromise.

Poles Receive No Help

War Materials Sent Were Bought in October, Says Bonar Law

London.—A question concerning war materials which are being shipped from England to Poland, was recently raised in the house. Andrew Bonar Law, the government spokesman, said they form a part of the supplies purchased by Poland last year and that they were being shipped to the Poles because they are the property of the Polish government. Mr. Bonar Law added that Great Britain had sold Poland some surplus stores last October and that should have been a breach of faith on the part of Great Britain if the despatch of munitions had been prevented. He declared that no assistance, field or otherwise, was being given Poland.

French Officers Acquitted

Paris.—High-General Fournier, the commander of the French fortress at Maubeuge at the beginning of the war and six of his subordinates, court-martialed for surrendering to the Germans in September, 1914, were all acquitted.

DOES IT PAY TO STOP ADVERTISING

The biggest blunder of recent years in the business world was the result of egotism and mistaken economy. The big English toilet soap makers, Pears' shut down their advertising department; decided to dispense with advertising. A soap that had been on the market for a hundred years in selling itself! Pears' is a mighty good soap. There have been millions of new babies washed with it, but did it sell itself? Sales dropped off and this grand old institution got badly left in the soap selling race. Conditions looked blue. A special meeting of directors was called into solemn session to discuss the absence of dividends and the normal decline in the soap business. And after these shrewd conservative business men had analysed the profit and loss report for several years, they came to the conclusion that no matter how good the article was it needed advertising to keep it before the public. In other words, no advertising meant no profits, therefore no dividends for stockholders. The fact that this big concern then voted several million dollars to be used exclusively for advertising purposes, compels one to ask whether you think persistent advertising pays or not.

IN MEMORIAM

In ever loving memory of my beloved husband, Elton Christner, who died at his home June 1st, 1919.

The month of June now is here. To me the saddest of all the year.

The depths of sorrow I cannot tell.

At the loss of one I loved so well.

The blow was great, the shock severe.

I little thought death was so near.

And only those who have lost can tell.

The pain at parting with one you love so well.

It was hard, yes, very hard.

To lose you, dear Elton,

But God, who knoweth best,

Held wide his loving arms and said

"Come unto me and rest."

And while he sleeps in peaceful sleep.

His memory I shall always keep.

This smiling face to me so dear.

MEDAL CONTEST AT WESTCOTT

On the evening of May 21st a temperance program was given by the Westcott W.C.T.U. in the Evangelical church. Six contestants, trained by Miss Kerr, took part for the silver medal. They were Annie Finlay, Susie Wilson, Geraldine Murphy, Eva Ray, Anna Erb and Alice Rennie. The contestants acquitted themselves creditably. Miss Annie Finlay was the successful contestant. The program otherwise consisted of exercises by children, music by the Jackson quartette and instrumental music by Miss Finlay and Mrs. Martin Colwell. The judges acting in the contest were Rev. McGregor, Mr. Austin and Mrs. Hugel.

Seven carloads of Didsbury people attended.

THE HOME

HOME PLANNING is an Art. Broader than Architecture, Domestic Science and Sociology all handled in one package, and the reason we build so many mistakes is that we ignore a world of experience and expect to draw on ample storehouses of information which, properly used, will insure against serious mistakes.

What, then, are some of the essentials of a Real and Practical Home?

First: Sunshine is more important than electric light, and fresh air is worth more than steam heat. Rooms should be of ample size. Foundation walls should be well cemented. Basement ceiling should be high enough to give ample head room. Floor plans should be considered from the viewpoint of efficiency in the conduct of household work. Unnecessary steps makes keeping house a burden.

No House should be built without one or more SCREENED PORCHES. WINDOW OPENINGS should be ample. DOOR OPENINGS should be large enough to permit of handling furniture and other bulky packages without inconvenience. Plenty of CLOSET & STORE ROOM should be provided. Stoop or curved STAIRWAYS should be avoided. BEDROOMS, where possible, should have ventilation from two sides.

These are only a few suggestions. Our Experience and Help are at Your Service Should You Wish Building Information of Any Kind.

North End Lumber Yard Service will help you get at those parts of the problem without any risk or obligation to you. Just tell me you would like to BUILD A HOME, and I will make the planning, drawing and other Come and See. Our Aim is to Make Good For Our Patrons.

Entertain Insurance Visitors

Mr. and Mrs. Parker Reed entertained at a house party on Friday evening about thirty members of the Western Canada Mutual Fire Association and the office staff of the Western Mutual, and an exceptionally pleasant evening was enjoyed. The musical part of the evening's program was in the hands of Messrs. Farrington and Henderson, who displayed the talent which everyone, at all times, recognizes. Everyone was in good spirits. In the abstract sense of the word! Two or three lively members of the company proved quite amusing and their efforts brought forth much genuine applause. The only thing which prevented the "burning down of the house" was the fact that it was not covered against tornado insurance, especially that of an inside nature. Dignity certainly counted for very little with some of these very efficient business men. Business was thrust into the background for the occasion, and one cannot help thinking that they would go back to work in their respective cities the more refreshed for the recreative diversion. Dainty refreshments were served, and that two or three pieces of each kind of cake were eagerly grasped, to vanish with the velocity of an express train down some throats, is all-sufficient proof of their goodness. "Farewell to Thee" and "Till We Meet Again" saw the evening rapidly approaching a close, during which songs several lighthearted gleams were exchanged, according to the "mutual" appeal to the minds of various individuals. The evening came to a close with the singing of "For They are Jolly Good Fellows," to the hostess; and the old, but ever new, "And Lang Syne." We have confidence in the assertion that this will prove a very pleasant memory to all who were fortunate enough to be present.
